

Alphabet International press release

Alphabet customers are now served in Portugal

- Alphabet International and Pan-Iberian customers now have access to full operational leasing products and services in the emerging Portuguese market
- Companies with business operations in Portugal can now benefit from the cooperation by Alphabet's competent mobility partner Finlog
- Entering this new market with that cooperation represents efforts on Alphabet's behalf to accommodate the needs of its international clientele
- In today globalised world, an extensive network is essential for the success of an international business

MUNICH/12/03/2018 – Alphabet International operations expanded officially by a further European market, Portugal. This brings the total of countries in which the innovative fleet management provider conducts business to 20. Alphabet, one of the leaders in Business Mobility solutions in Europe, Australia and China, now offers (full) operational leasing and financial leasing products to organisations with business activities throughout the Iberian Peninsula.

Companies that rely on Alphabet's innovative mobility services and solutions across Europe and beyond can now take advantages of its offer in the Portuguese market. Just like in other Alphabet markets, Alphabet clients now have access to the range of Alphabet compatible products and services available in Portugal, via Finlog. Depending on each company's specific needs, it can also opt for a wide range of useful on-top services, such as fuel cards, replacement vehicles, roadside assistance and legal insurance. Effective immediately, Alphabet operates in Portugal in collaboration with its reliable and well-established mobility partner, Finlog.

'The aim of our collaboration is to serve International and Pan-Iberian customers now in Portugal, a high potential market. Our corporate clients highly value our international product offer and global network. Now they can also rely on an Alphabet testified partner to provide suitable cutting-edge mobility products for their subsidiaries or offices in Portugal. We are all very excited to see what we can accomplish for our customers with Finlog', says Rüdiger Ebel, Head of New Markets at Alphabet.

Finlog also expressed enthusiasm about the partnership: 'Thanks to Finlog's extensive experience in fleet management and integration into the largest Portuguese automotive group, we can work together with Alphabet to enhance its global presence and drive innovation.'

By collaborating, we are able to provide tailor-made Business Mobility solutions that fulfil global enterprises' mobility demands in Portugal', says Pedro Saraiva, Exec BoD and CEO of Finlog.

Officially known as Finlog – Aluguer e Comércio de Automóveis, S.A., was established in 1993 in Porto, Portugal and employs a workforce of around 65 people today. Finlog is 100% owned by the Salvador Caetano Group. The company is currently one of the top 5 companies in the operational leasing market in Portugal.

By electing to launch on the Portuguese market, Alphabet has reinforced its standing as a strong Business Mobility provider for global enterprises. Overall, the company owes its continued success to its unique tailor-made approach that enables it to offer products that perfectly meet client needs as well as its unparalleled knowledge of fleet management and mobility industries.
